

Arizona Department of Revenue
Solar Energy Devices
Application for Registration

ARIZONA FORM
6015

This registration application allows the business identified below to take a specific deduction from their transaction privilege tax base for qualified solar energy devices. The law allows retailers to deduct the amount received from the sale of the devices, up to a maximum deduction amount of $5,000 per device. The law allows prime contractors to deduct proceeds from a contract to provide and install a device, up to a maximum deduction amount of $5,000 per contract.

Qualified solar devices are defined in the law to be either "solar daylighting" or "solar energy" devices. A solar daylighting device is one which is specifically designed to capture and redirect the visible portion of the solar beam, while controlling the infrared portion, for use in illuminating interior building spaces in lieu of artificial lighting. Solar energy devices are defined as a system or series of mechanisms designed primarily to provide heating, cooling, electrical power, mechanical power, solar daylighting or any combination thereof by means of collecting and transferring solar energy by active or passive means including wind generator systems that produce electricity. Solar energy systems may also have the capacity of storing solar energy for future use. Passive systems shall clearly be designed as a solar energy device, such as a trombe wall, and not merely as a normal structure, such as a window.

This Registration does not Constitute Endorsement of the Solar Energy Devices.
